Welcome to the Trauma Survivors Network (TSN)

The Trauma Survivors
Network

(TSN) is a community of patients and their families who are looking to connect with one another and rebuild their lives following serious injury.

The American Trauma
Society

(ATS) supports the TSN by providing programs and resources to trauma
survivors and their families.

University of Utah Health has partnered with ATS and TSN to bring these programs to the patients and their families we serve.

We encourage you to use the resources and hope you find them useful during your recovery.

Trauma Survivors Network

The Trauma Survivors Network (TSN) is a community of trauma patients and their families with shared experiences.

The TSN website is a place to gain information and connect with others through classes and forums to assist in your recovery.

Joining this community can help ease the anxiety and frustration often experienced after a sudden injury.

NextSteps Program

The NextSteps Program is a free, interactive online program for Survivors offered through the Trauma Survivors Network that can be accessed at your convenience.

About the NextSteps Program

- ✓ It is based on selfmanagement principles.
